

PRESS RELEASE

Dave Hampton and Lisa Hampton at Glyph Technologies' NAMM Booth

Anaheim, CA January 18, 2007- Dave Hampton, 20 year industry veteran, will be at the Glyph booth along with his wife, engineer Lisa Chamblee-Hampton demonstrating and discussing their use of Glyph products.

Dave Hampton is globally recognized for his work in Audio Recording, Production, and Studio Design. For over 20 years, he has contributed to the success of many top artists like Babyface, Herbie Hancock, Prince, and Marcus Miller. On any project, Hampton's reputation is one of providing solutions, and getting the job done. Lisa Chamblee-Hampton is one of music's up and coming young engineers. Lisa has recorded and worked with such notable musicians as George Duke, Bill Withers, Wallace Roney, Geri Allen, Terri Lynn Carrington, and Matthew Garrison.

Two projects that Dave and Lisa recently worked on, Prince's "3121" and Justin Timberlake's "Future, Sex, Love Sounds", were nominated in 7 different categories at this year's 49th annual Grammy awards.

Dave will be signing copies of his book telling about the life of an Audio Engineer. In "So, You're an Audio Engineer", Hampton explains how to be successful while being a service provider in the Audio Industry. Released at last year's NAMM show, Hampton has sold over 6,000 copies worldwide. Stop by and spend some time in the Glyph booth, 6829. Dave and Lisa will be available to answer any questions that you might have.
